II.

A Statement of the Dimensions of Flags generally, with certain exceptions.

The practice has been, in regard to the dimensions of Flags generally, to make the length twice the breadth at the head. The following appear to be exceptions to this rule :—

BRITISH FLAGS.

Description and Dimensions.
Admiral - - - - -	Length is $1\frac{1}{2}$ times breadth.
Signal Flags and Pendants -	See tables of dimensions on the Plates showing designs.

For Foreign Flags, see the Plates showing designs.

GENERALLY THE PROPORTIONS OF THE SEVERAL PARTS OF THE UNDERMENTIONED ENGLISH FLAGS WILL BE AS FOLLOW :—

Description		The Width of the several Crosses.	Proportions generally in the Union Flag.	Dimensions in a Union Flag of 10 Breadths, as an example (A).
Of Flags.	Of Cross.			ft. in.
UNION FLAGS	St. George's Cross.	(a) The red of the St. George's Cross to be	$\frac{1}{5}$th the width of the Flag.	1 6
		(b) The white border to the St. George's Cross to be	$\frac{1}{15}$th the width of the Flag, or $\frac{1}{3}$rd the red of the St. George's Cross.	0 6

Note (A).—A Flag of 10 Breadths measures 7 ft. 6 ins. in width by 15 feet in length.

Description: Of Flags.	Description: Of Cross.	The Width of the several Crosses.	Proportions generally in the Union Flag.	Dimensions in a Union Flag of 10 Breadths, as an example (A). ft.	in.
UNION FLAGS	(B) St. Andrew's and St. Patrick's Crosses.	(c) The red of the St. Patrick's Cross to be	$\frac{1}{15}$th the width of the Flag, or $\frac{1}{3}$rd the red of the St. George's Cross.	0	6
		(d) The narrow white border of the St. Patrick's Cross to be	$\frac{1}{30}$th the width of the Flag, or $\frac{1}{6}$th the red of the St. George's Cross.	0	3
		(e) The broad white of the St. Andrew's Cross to be	$\frac{1}{10}$th the width of the Flag, or $\frac{1}{2}$ the red of St. George's Cross (or equal to the red of the St. Patrick's Cross, together with one of its narrow white borders).	0	9

Description: Of Flag.	Description: Of Cross.	Proportions generally.
ENSIGNS, WHITE	St. George's Cross to be -	$\frac{2}{15}$ths the width of the Flag.
	The widths of the Crosses in the Union to be	Determined by the proportions given above for the Union Flags.
ENSIGNS, RED AND BLUE.	The Union Flag to be -	In length half the length of the Flag, and in width half the width of the Flag.
	The widths of the Crosses in the Union to be	Determined by the proportions given above for the Union Flags.
ADMIRAL'S FLAGS -	St. George's Cross to be -	$\frac{1}{6}$th the width of the Flag.
PENDANTS, BROAD -	Ditto ditto -	$\frac{1}{6}$th the width of the Flag.

Note (A).—A Flag of 10 Breadths measures 7 ft. 6 ins. in width by 15 feet in length.

Note (B).—As the Breadths of the Red and Narrow White stripes of the St. Patrick's and St. Andrew's Crosses are together equal to the Broad White of the St. Andrew's Cross, the centre line of these three parts, which will be one edge of the Red Cross, should form a diagonal to the Union Flag, observing that the Broad White should be on the upper part of the Cross in the quarters at the Head of the Union Flag, and on the lower part of the Cross in the quarters at the Fly.

DIMENSIONS OF THESE FLAGS, DETERMINED FROM THE FOREGOING PROPORTIONS, TO BE AS FOLLOWS:—

ENGLISH UNION FLAGS.

Memorandum relative to the origin of the Union Flag in its present form.*

UNION FLAG.

The original National Flag of England was the Banner of St. George (argent, a cross gules). To this the Banner of St. Andrew (azure, a saltire argent) was united, in pursuance of a Royal Proclamation, dated 12th April, 1606, of which the following is an extract :—

" Whereas some difference hath arisen between Our Subjects of South " and North Britain, travelling by seas, about the bearing of their flags : " for the avoiding of all such contentions hereafter, We have, with the " advice of Our Council, ordered that from henceforth, all Our subjects " of this Isle and Kingdom of Great Britain, and the members thereof, " shall bear in their maintops the Red Cross, commonly called Saint " George's Cross, and the White Cross, commonly called Saint Andrew's " Cross, joined together, according to a form made by Our Heralds, and " sent by us to Our Admiral, to be published to Our said subjects : and " in their foretops Our subjects of South Britain shall wear the Red Cross " only, as they were wont : and Our subjects of North Britain in their " foretops the White Cross only, as they were accustomed."

Union with Scotland.

On the 17th March, 1706–7, the Lords of the Committee of the Privy Council ordered the Kings of Arms and the Heralds to consider of the alterations to be made in the Ensigns Armorial, and the conjoining the Crosses of St. George and St. Andrew, to be used in all Flags, Banners, Standards and Ensigns at sea and on land.

On the 17th April, 1707, the Queen in Council, upon a report from the Lords of the Privy Council, pursuant to the Act for uniting the two Kingdoms, approved of the Flag, as shown in the following drawing marked A, in which the crosses of St. George and St. Andrew are conjoined.

Union with Ireland.

On the 5th November, 1800, the King in Council approved the report of a Committee of the Privy Council, that the Union Flag should be altered as shown in the following drawing marked B, in which the Cross of St. George is conjoined with the Crosses of St. Andrew and St. Patrick,

* Note.—A Jack is a Flag to be flown only on the "Jack" staff, i.e., a staff on the bowsprit or forepart of the Ship. The word "Jack" is probably a diminutive, distinguishing the small Union Flag on the bowsprit from the large one formerly flown at the topmast head.

and which is thus described in the proclamation issued on the 1st January, 1801:—

"The Union Flag shall be azure, the Crosses saltires of St. Andrew "and Saint Patrick, quarterly per saltire counterchanged argent and "gules; the latter fimbriated of the second surmounted by the Cross of "St. George of the third fimbriated as the saltire."

On the drawing marked C, which shows the formation of the Union Flag, turn the Cross of St. George upwards, and that of St. Patrick downwards, the banner of St. Andrew will then be uncovered; place on this the Cross of St. George, and we have the National Flag of 1606; turn back the St. George, then place the Cross of St. Patrick on the blue field of the St. Andrew's banner (counterchanging the white of the Cross of St. Andrew with the red of that of St. Patrick), place the Cross of St. George over all, and we have the Union Flag of 1801, and of the present time.

Memorandum as to Red, White, and Blue Ensigns.

In 1687, an inquiry was made by Mr. Pepys, Secretary to the Admiralty, as to the Flags worn in the reign of Charles I.; and in a manuscript in the British Museum, it is stated, that in the Duke of Buckingham's expedition to the Isle of Rhé, in 1627, the fleet was divided into the Red, Blue, and White Squadrons. The following is an extract from that manuscript:—

"The Duke, now lying at Portsmouth, divided his Fleete into Squadrons. Himselfe Admirall and Generall in Chiefe went in ye Triumph bearing the Standard of England in ye maine topp, and Admirall particular of the bloody colours.

"The Earle of Lindsey was Vice-Admirall to the Fleete in the Rainbowe, bearing the King's usual colours in his fore topp, and a Blew Flag in his maine topp, and was Admirall of the blew colours.

"The Lord Harvey was Rear Admirall in ye Repulse, bearing the King's usual colours in his mizen and a White Flag in the maine topp, and was Admirall of ye Squadron of white colours."

There were two other Squadrons, one under the Earl of Danby with the St. George's Flag, the other under Captain Pennington (made Admiral of his Squadron), with the St. Andrew's Cross.

It will be observed that in this instance the blue Flag took precedence of the white.

In 1665, in the large Fleet commanded by the Duke of York in person, as Lord High Admiral, Prince Rupert was Admiral of the white Squadron, and Sir Thomas Allen of the blue; and an old drawing shows the Three Divisions of the Fleet wearing Ensigns of their respective colours.

But, although the large Fleets were thus divided, Admirals on Foreign Stations continued to wear the Union Flag at the main, fore, or mizen, according to their rank as Full, Vice, or Rear-Admiral.

Many instances are mentioned of the inconvenience arising from the use of the Royal Flag by private ships, and in 1660, the Duke of York gave an order that the Union Flag should be worn only by the King's ships.

It is clear that the sole object for which the three colours were formerly used was to distinguish the divisions of the Fleet, which often numbered as many as 200 sail.

A variety of Ensigns much increases the danger of confusion in action, and it may be observed that, in order to prevent that confusion, Lord Nelson, on going into action at "Trafalgar," ordered the whole of his fleet to hoist the white ensign; and it was under that flag, the "Old Banner of England," but with the Union in the upper corner, that the victory was gained.

Latterly, owing to the comparatively small number of ships forming a fleet, the distinctive colours became of much less importance, while the frequent change of flags on foreign stations was very puzzling to foreigners, often led to mistakes, and in many ways was inconvenient; accordingly, on the 9th of July 1864, by Her Majesty's Order in Council of that date, it was directed that the classification of ships under the denominations of Red, White, and Blue Squadrons should be discontinued, and that in future the "White" ensign should be used by all of Her Majesty's ships of war in commission; the Blue ensign by British merchant ships commanded by officers of the Royal Naval Reserve, after obtaining permission from the Admiralty; and the Red ensign by all other ships and vessels belonging to Her Majesty's subjects.

VII.

Copies of Articles in the King's Regulations referred to on preceding Pages 28, 29, and 30, as the Authority for the Use of the Flags shown thereon.

Whenever the Sovereign shall go on board any Ship of War the Royal Standard shall be hoisted at the main, the Flag of the Lord High Admiral at the fore, and the Union Flag at the mizen of such Ship, or, if on board a vessel with less than three masts they shall be hoisted in the most conspicuous parts of her; a Royal Salute shall also be fired from such Ship or Vessel on the Sovereign going on board, and again on leaving her; and every one of His Majesty's Ships present shall likewise fire a Royal Salute on the hoisting of those Flags, and such further Royal Salutes shall be fired on the Sovereign quitting the Ship or Vessel or passing in boats, or on such other occasions as may be directed.

* * * * * * * *

ARTICLE 40. PARAGRAPH 5.

The Royal Standard, being the personal Flag of the Sovereign, is to be hoisted on board His Majesty's Ships, or on official buildings, or in enclosures, only on occasions when His Majesty the King is actually present.

PAGE 12. ARTICLE 41.

When Her Majesty the Queen is embarked in any Ship or Vessel, her Standard shall be hoisted at the Main, and it shall be treated with the same respect and saluted in the same manner as the Flags denoting the presence of the Sovereign.

2. When Her Majesty Queen Alexandra is embarked in any Ship or Vessel, her Standard shall be hoisted at the Main, and it shall be treated with the same respect and saluted in the same manner as the Flags denoting the presence of the Sovereign.

3. When His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales is embarked in any Ship or Vessel, his standard shall be hoisted at the Main, and it shall be treated with the same respect and saluted in the same manner as the Flags denoting the presence of the Sovereign.

4. When His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught or His Royal Highness Prince Arthur of Connaught, or other Members of the Royal Family are embarked in any Ship or Vessel, with neither of Their Majesties the King and Queen, Queen Alexandra, nor the Prince of Wales on board, the Standard appropriated for their Royal Highnesses' use shall be hoisted at the Main of such Ship, and it is to be saluted as directed in Art. 42.

Her Royal Highness the Duchess of Connaught will use the Standard of the Duke of Connaught.

Whenever any member of the Royal Family shall go on board any of His Majesty's Ships, the Standard of His or Her Royal Highness shall be hoisted at the Main on board such Ship, and a Royal Salute shall be fired from her, on such member of the Royal Family going on board, and again upon leaving her.

BRITISH EMPIRE.

PAGE 14. ARTICLE 46.

Whenever any of His Majesty's Ships meet, pass, or are passed by any Ship or Ships which are flying more than one Standard, or arrive at any port or place where more than one is flying, or when two or more Standards are broken simultaneously, they are to fire Royal salutes in the following order, saluting the standards of :—

I.—His Majesty the King, Her Majesty the Queen, Her Majesty Queen Alexandra, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

II.—The Sovereigns, Consorts, or Heirs Apparent of foreign nations, or the Presidents of the Republics.

III.—Other Members of the British Royal Family.

IV.—Other Members of Foreign Royal Families.

2. Under these circumstances only one salute is to be fired for the Standards of any one nation, no matter how many may be flying.

The following Rules are established by the Government of India in respect to the hoisting of the Viceroy's Flag in Indian Waters :—

A. When the Viceroy and Governor-General is on board, the Viceroy's Flag is to be hoisted at the main ;

B. When a Governor or Lieutenant-Governor is on board, within the limits of his Government, or on duty elsewhere in Territories under the authority of the Government of India, the Viceroy's Flag is to be hoisted at the fore ;

C. When a Chief Commissioner or Political Officer is on board within the limits of his jurisdiction, or on duty elsewhere in the Territories under the authority of the Government of India, the Viceroy's Flag is to be hoisted at the fore.

2. With reference to the foregoing rule (A), whenever the Viceroy and Governor-General shall be embarked on board one of His Majesty's Ships, his distinguishing Flag is to be hoisted at the main, and kept flying while the Viceroy is on board in Indian Waters.

3. With reference to rules (B) and (C), the Viceroy's Flag is to be hoisted at the fore, whenever any of the Functionaries referred to are Saluted on visiting the Ship.

4. Whenever a requisition is received for the embarkation or conveyance of a Governor, Chief Commissioner, or Political Officer, the Senior Officer present may direct the Viceroy's Flag to be hoisted at the fore of the Ship in which he is embarked; provided that the Senior Officer, after consultation with and on requisition from that Official, considers it for the benefit of the service about to be performed that such Flag should, within the prescribed limits, be hoisted. Should the Senior Officer consider it, in the circumstances, undesirable to hoist the Flag, he is to inform the Official of his reasons, and at once report the same to the Commander-in-Chief for the information of the Admiralty.

5. In the event of any such Functionary being detached on a Foreign Mission in his official capacity outside his particular jurisdiction, a special intimation will be given by the Government of India in each case as to the Flag being carried by the man-of-war in which he may be embarked; in the absence of which the Senior Officer present is to exercise his discretion in consultation with the Official proceeding on the Mission.

PAGE 35. ARTICLE 101.

The Lord High Admiral's Flag is to be worn in Ships in which the Lord High Admiral or the Commissioners for executing the Office of Lord High Admiral are embarked.

The Union Flag is to be worn at the main by an Admiral of the Fleet as his proper Flag.

The following Flags are to be worn by Flag Officers (except Captains of the Fleet) as their proper Flags:—

Admiral.—A white Flag with the red St. George's Cross thereon.

Vice-Admiral.—A white Flag with the red St. George's Cross thereon, with one red ball in the upper canton of the Flag next the staff.

Rear-Admiral.—A white Flag with the red St. George's Cross thereon, with one red ball in the upper canton, and one in the lower canton next the staff.

The diameter of the red ball is to be half the vertical depth of the white of the cantons next the staff, and the ball is to be in the centre of the canton.

When Vice and Rear-Admirals have their Flags painted on their Boats, the same distinctive balls, at least two inches in diameter, are to be shown on the Flag.

A Commodore of the First Class shall wear a white broad pendant, with the Red St. George's Cross thereon.

A Captain of the Fleet, if a Flag Officer, may wear in, and have painted on, his Boat the Flag proper to his Rank; if not a Flag Officer, he may wear in, and have painted on, his Boat a White Broad Pendant, when not in the presence of a Senior Captain.

A Commodore of the Second Class shall wear a white broad pendant with the red St. George's Cross, with a red ball in the upper canton of the broad pendant next the staff.

The diameter of the red ball is to be half the vertical depth of the white in the cantons next the staff, and the ball is to be in the centre of the canton.

The Royal Standard, the Flag of the Viceroy of India, and the Flag of the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, are, when indicating the presence on board of the personages entitled to hoist those Flags, the Sovereign excepted, to be always hoisted at the main, the Flag of an Admiral or the Broad Pendant of a Commodore, if necessary, being shifted to another mast or Ship, as the case may require; except in the case provided for in Clause 1 of Art. 68 in regard to the Flag of the Viceroy of India.

When two or more of His Majesty's Ships are present in a port or roadstead, a small broad white pendant, not exceeding five breadths, the length being twice the breadth at the head, with the St. George's Cross, is to be hoisted by the Senior Officer's Ship as a distinguishing flag in addition to the masthead pendant.

When a Commodore, junior to the Senior Officer, is also present, the Senior Officer shall fly his broad pendant at the masthead in addition to his Captain's pendant. In all other cases the Senior Officer's broad pendant shall be flown from the starboard topsail yard-arm.

The Flag of the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland is to be hoisted on board any of His Majesty's Ships in which His Excellency shall embark, within the Irish waters or in St. George's Channel.

PAGE 37. ARTICLE 114.

The Flags authorised by His Majesty to be displayed afloat are—a. by General Officers commanding stations,—The Union Flag bearing in the centre, as a distinguishing mark, the Royal initials, on a blue ground encircled by a garland, and surmounted by the Crown ;

b. by His Majesty's Diplomatic servants and Commissioners and Consuls-General—the Union Flag with the Royal Arms in the centre thereof, on a white ground encircled by a garland ;

c. by the Governors or High Commissioners of His Majesty's Colonies and Possessions abroad, and by Lieutenant Governors or other officers administering the government, the Union Flag with the arms or badge of the Colony emblazoned in the centre thereof, on a white ground encircled by a garland ;

d. by Consuls-General, Consuls, and Consular Agents,—the blue ensign, with the Royal Arms in the centre of the fly thereof, that is in the centre of that part between the Union and the end of the Flag.

2. No other distinguishing Flag or Flags are authorised to be worn afloat by any of these Functionaries.

Whenever any of the Functionaries particularised in Articles 99 and 114 are embarked,—

a. In a boat for the purpose of paying visits of ceremony or on other official occasions,—the proper distinguishing Flag, within the respective limits prescribed by the following Clause *b*II., may be hoisted at the bow, but when the boat belongs to one of His Majesty's Ships, she is to keep her White Ensign flying ;

b. In one of His Majesty's Ships for passage,—

I. If a General Officer Commanding a Station,—the proper distinguishing Flag, with the approval of the Senior Naval Officer, may be hoisted at the fore, and kept flying within the General Officer's command, provided he is proceeding on public military service :

II. If a Diplomatic Functionary and in charge of a Mission,—the proper distinguishing Flag with the approval of the Senior Naval Officer, may be hoisted at the fore, and be kept flying within the limits of the mission, provided the Diplomatic Functionary be proceeding on the public service :

III. If a Governor or High Commissioner, or a Lieutenant-Governor, or other Officer administering the Government,—the proper distinguishing Flag, with the approval of the Senior Naval Officer, may be hoisted at the fore, and kept flying within the limits of his Government, or, in the case of a High Commissioner within the limits of his commission, provided the Colonial Functionary or High Commissioner be proceeding on the public service:

IV. The distinguishing Flag of Consular Authorities is to be hoisted in Boats only, and not in Ships, except when they are being Saluted;

c. In one of His Majesty's Ships on an occasion of an Official visit,—The distinguishing Flags are to be respectively hoisted at the fore whenever any of His Majesty's Military, Diplomatic, Colonial, or Consular Functionaries are receiving Salutes to which they are entitled;

d. In British Ships and Boats, other than those of His Majesty, these Functionaries, except Consular Officers as to Ships, are, with the sanction of the Owners or Masters, authorised to fly their proper distinguishing Flags on the same occasions, and within the same limits, and these regulations shall be deemed a sufficient warrant to the Master under the Merchant Shipping Act for so doing, but the permission to hoist such masthead Flags indicative of the presence on board of any of these Functionaries, in no way affects or alters the character or status of the Merchant Ship in time of peace or in time of war, whether His Majesty is belligerent or neutral.

Page 40. Article 118.

All His Majesty's Ships of War in Commission shall wear a white Ensign with the Red St. George's Cross, and the Union in the upper canton; and when it shall be thought proper to do so, they may display the Union Jack at the jackstaff end (see Art. 119, Masthead Pendant).

Page 38. Article 119.

All His Majesty's Ships in Commission, when not bearing a Flag or Broad Pendant, are to wear at the Main masthead a Pendant, having a St. George's Cross on a white field in the part next to the mast, with a white fly.

If necessary, in order to avoid fouling Wireless Telegraphy Gear, a shorter pendant may be worn, provided it can be easily seen at a short distance from the ship.

Page 40. Article 122.

The following are the regulations as to the Flags to be worn by any vessel maintained by any Colony under the Colonial Defence Act of 1865:—

a. any vessel provided and used as a vessel of war shall wear the Blue Ensign with the Badge of the colony in the fly thereof, and a Blue Pendant;

b. all vessels belonging to, or permanently in, the service of the Colonies, but not commissioned as vessels of war under the Act, shall wear a similar Blue Ensign, but no Pendant.

Ships and Vessels employed in the service of any public office shall carry a Blue Ensign, and a small Blue Flag with a Union described in a canton at the upper corner thereof, next to the staff, as a Jack, but in the centre of the fly of such Ensign and Jack, that is in the centre of that part between the Union and the end of the Flag, shall be inserted the Badge of the Office to which they belong.

Hired transports are to wear the Blue Ensign, with the yellow Admiralty anchor in the fly; and when such Vessels are in charge of Commissioned Officers of the Royal Navy, they are, in addition, to carry Blue Pendants with the Admiralty Badge in the upper part next to the mast.

Hired Vessels employed in the Surveying Service, when commanded by Officers in His Majesty's Navy, are to wear the Blue Ensign and Pendant.

Commissioned Officers serving with the permission of the Admiralty as Mail Agents in contract Vessels, when in their Boats, may wear the Blue Pendant with the Admiralty Badge in the upper part next the mast, provided that the Boat at the same time shall carry a Blue Ensign with the Badge of the Office to which the Vessel belongs.

British Merchant Ships commanded by Officers on the Retired List of the Royal Navy or Officers of the Royal Naval Reserve, which fulfil the following conditions, will be allowed to wear a Blue Ensign:—

a. the Officer commanding the Ship must be an Officer on the Retired List of the Royal Navy or an Officer of the Royal Naval Reserve:

b. ten of the crew must be Officers and men belonging to the Royal Naval Reserve, but Men belonging to the Royal Fleet Reserve, Naval Pensioners, and Men holding Royal Naval Reserve deferred pension certificates may be included in the number specified:

c. before hoisting the Blue Ensign the Officer commanding the Ship must be provided with an Admiralty Warrant:

d. the fact that the Commanding Officer holds a warrant authorising him to hoist the Blue Ensign must be noted on the Ship's Articles of Agreement.

2. Commanding Officers failing to fulfil the above conditions, unless such failure is due to death or other circumstances over which they have no control, will no longer be entitled to wear the Blue Ensign.

3. British Merchant Ships in receipt of Admiralty Subvention, will be allowed to fly the Blue Ensign, under Admiralty Warrant.

4. In order to ascertain that the above conditions are strictly carried out, the Captain of one of His Majesty's Ships meeting a Ship flying the Blue Ensign may send on board an Officer, not below the rank of Lieutenant at any convenient opportunity. This restriction as to the rank of the Boarding Officer is in no way to limit or otherwise affect the authority or the duties of Naval Officers either under the Merchant Shipping Acts or in time of war.

5. Applications for permission to wear the Blue Ensign on board British Merchant Ships in receipt of Admiralty subvention, should be made direct to the Admiralty by the owners; for other Merchant Ships the applications should be made through the Registrar-General of Seamen. The Board of Trade will issue Regulations as to the mode of proceeding.

Page 42. Article 127.

In accordance with the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, all other Ships and Vessels which belong to His Majesty's subjects shall wear a Red Ensign free from any Badge or distinctive mark, with the Union in the upper canton next the staff; except such Yachts or other Vessels as may have warrants from the Admiralty to display other Ensigns, Colours, or Pendants.

2. Colonial Merchant Vessels shall wear the Red Ensign as above, except those of Canada, the Commonwealth of Australia and New Zealand, which may by Admiralty Warrant wear the Red Ensign with the badge of the Colony in the fly thereof.

3. Any Colonial Merchant Vessel may, however, carry a distinguishing Flag with the Badge of the Colony thereon, in addition to the Red Ensign, provided that such flag does not infringe the provisions of section 73 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1894.

All Ships and Vessels shall use the British Union Flag, with a border of white of one-fifth of the flag, as a Pilot Flag, in all parts of the world.
